

Case Study

Our Company was contacted by a high tech UK manufacturer looking for a simple solution to their marking application.

The small “plug and play” units fit neatly on production lines around machinery to give non intrusive protection and are easy to move for quick layout changes.

Two stage filtration protects the user and removes harmful smoke and fumes which are held for safe disposal by the units.

Our ongoing service plan helps the user as we provide filter changes during specific shutdown periods to ensure the highest air quality working conditions.